HANCOCK'S SHARE OF NATIONAL BUDGET OVER 3 MILLION

Hancock County's share of the president's proposed $38.8 billion federal spending budget for fiscal 1964 would amount to $3,272,000, the Mississippi Economic Council estimates.

The MEC said it arrived at the county's share of the proposed budget by applying an economic index showing this county pays 69 percent of state spending, to the amount Mississippi will be called upon to pay. The state is estimated to pay 0.48 percent of all federal spending. This figure applied to the total federal budget proposal shows Mississippians would pay $474,240,000 of the proposed federal total.

"This is the highest amount this county or our state has ever been called upon to pay into the federal government, in war or peacetime," the MEC said. "Our state is often cited as one of the poorer states, yet this shows how heavy federal spending affects our pocketbooks."

"In announcing these figures, the MEC is not attempting to weigh the merits or demerits of spending proposals. However, when the share of federal spending is added to state, county and local spending proposals, it is easy to see the taxpayer is being burdened to the breaking point."

The MEC said it arrives at the state's share, 0.48 percent, by using a formula developed and accepted by national economists to estimate each state's share of federal spending. The formula includes the following items:

Individual income taxes reported by states, corporate income taxes, estate and gift taxes, excise taxes and certain other taxes, such as employment taxes and motor vehicle fuel taxes. The county index is one developed by state economists in administering state funds for education.

HANCOCK COUNTY FARMERS REPAY NEARLY $137,000 TO U. S. AGENCY IN 1962

In 1962 Hancock County farm families repaid nearly $137,000 in principal and interest on loans from the U. S. Farmers Home Administration, Max H. Stone, County Supervisor of the agency announced in Bay St. Louis, Miss., today.

The amount repaid by Hancock County farmers in 1962, was 15 percent more than the amount for the previous year.

Mr. Stone said, "The record of Hancock County farm families using Farmers Home Administration credit proves once again that with adequate credit plus technical advice on farming problems, small farmers can operate successfully under modern agricultural conditions."

"The family farmer is not obsolete, as some commentators charge. Given access to the best farming information available and capital to do a modern job of farming, he is and will remain the mainstay of the state's agricultural economy."

Mr. Stone also reported that in 1962 his agency had its biggest year in history. Nationwide, Farmers Home Administration lending totaled $754 million, an increase of 17 percent over the amount for 1961 and 24 percent over the total for 1960.

The Food and Agriculture Act of 1962, signed by President Kennedy in September, added a number of new loan authorizations to the Farmers Home Administration program of supervised credit in the state, Mr. Stone reported. Farm operating and ownership loans were broadened to include the financing of recreational enterprises designed to help supplement farmers' income.

Small towns and associations of farmers and other rural residents now may also borrow funds to finance changes in land use, including development of recreational facilities.

The "Senior Citizens Housing Act of 1962 established a Farmers Home Administration program of loans to individuals, corporations and groups to build rental housing for the elderly in rural areas. Loans were also authorized to individuals over 62 to buy, build or renovate housing for themselves.

These new authorizations were in addition to a general modernization of Farmers Home Administration existing lending programs brought about by the Agriculture and Housing Acts of 1961.

All Farmers Home Administration loans are accompanied by technical advice on farm and financial management. Loans are made only to applicants unable to obtain needed credit from conventional lenders.

All farming counties in Mississippi are served by the local FHA Offices, generally located in county seats.

Grand Jury Reports On Condition Of Courthouse

A 17-man Hancock County grand jury empaneled last Monday returned 10 true bills, one no bill and remanded one case to the justice of the peace court.

The text of a final report tendered to Second District Circuit Judge Leslie B. Grant by grand jury foreman Edward P. Porter Jr. follows:

We, the grand jury, having been duly empaneled, sworn and charged for the term aforesaid and the court aforesaid, have been in session for two days, during which time we have examined 33 witnesses, investigated 12 cases, returned 10 true bills, one no bill, and remanded one case to the justice of the peace court.

We have visited and inspected the county home for the poor and sick in a body and have observed things about which we wish to make recommendations. We observed that the plastic tile over the kitchen has become loosened and fallen away and this should be corrected. We further observe cracks in the men's wing which allows the wind to come into the building. There appears to us to be something wrong with the foundation on the northwest corner of the right wing and we feel that this should be inspected and checked. Also the window panes need replacing in the northwest corner of the right wing. We observed that in one of the men's sections of the county home some of the furniture needed replacing and we suggest that it be done. Otherwise, we find that the building was being well-kept and being run and managed in a proper manner.

We visited the Hancock County Hospital in a body and found that this institution was operated in a fine manner and apparently well-managed. We did observe that 38 of the canteen panels in the passageway had become stained from leakage from water apparently, and we suggest that these be checked and corrected.

We inspected the county jail and found that generally it was clean and well run. However, we did observe that there were overcrowded conditions in the jail and apparently this can be only corrected by other recommendations which will be made following in this report. We think that the commode in the women's cell should be checked and repaired and a seat replaced on the commode.

We have observed generally the condition of the courthouse and find that it is generally speaking in an unclean condition. We have also observed the large number of prisoners who have been confined in the Hancock County jail at a tremendous cost to the taxpayers of this county. In further investigations of this we have conferred with the board of supervisors and we are advised that these prisoners can be worked legally and we have so recommended to the board of supervisors. It appears to us as a body that every effort should be made to utilize prisoner labor in and around the courthouse with soap and water, if nothing else is available, and in any event to try and clean up the conditions which now exist until they can be corrected. We also find that the board of supervisors is paying a prison guard and we recommended that these prisoners be used as they are intended to be used by the law, upon the roads and beats of the county so as to justify the large expenditures being used to feed and house them in the county jail. We also recommended that arresting officers use very discretion in the filing of charges against individuals and that these charges not be multiplied when unnecessary, resulting in additional costs to the county, since the county must pay the cost of their conviction where the defendant is unable to do so. We find that these payments are three to four times in excess of prior administrations and while we do not make a finding that they are not necessary, we do admonish the officers to exercise discretion in trying to keep the cost low to the county. These United Gas is proud of its people. Every key position in our company is held by a man or woman who "came up from the ranks." We feel that the policy of "promotion from within" has meant much to our employees — and has resulted in better gas service for our customers. Total payments made to or for the account of employees have increased every year for more than 20 years... topped $40,000,000 in 1962. That's an important factor in the economy of the Gulf South, for it puts more money in circulation for all to share.

"AND THEN PRINCE CHARMING"

Do you remember the undivided attention you gave to a story-teller . . . when you first heard Cinderella, Snow White, or some gallant warrior bold? It seems so long ago. And yet, that attention reveals within ourselves more than dreams; it reveals a secret longing after mysteries, after the things we do not understand, but somehow love.

Religion, in a way, is somewhat like that. Everybody is religious! But, of course, everybody doesn't call it that! Nevertheless, there is in the heart of man a secret yearning, a wish, a hope for things eternal. We express those wishes in church.

And somehow God hears our wishes and consoles and explains. That is a very important part of the Church; for it is a place of consolation and understanding, a place where wishes (prayers) are heard, where the mysteries of life gain new meaning.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Helping with your homework

THE typical housewife's "homework" may not include reading, "rithmetic and "rithmetic, but learning the lessons of home management are just as important.

With more than 60 electric appliances now on the market, and with frequent refinements in and development of others, it's pretty hard to keep abreast of all the latest advancements in electrical living.

That's where Mississippi Power Company's home service representatives can be of assistance to you. Trained and experienced home economists, like Miss Bessie L.

Welch (pictured above, left, with Mrs. Gordon Nash) can provide you with professional assistance right in your home — without cost or obligation.

More than 2,000 home calls are made each year by Mississippi Power home economists. These ladies stand ready to assist you in such things as kitchen planning, lighting and appliance usage.

Home visits are just one of the many ways that Mississippi Power home economists help you enjoy the full benefits of flameless electric living.

Bowling will come into its own again with warmer weather ahead. Bowling teams are still fighting it out for top honors. If you are a bowler join a team and enjoy a good time. The local bowling alleys are practically new and open to the public night and day.

Now is the time to paint and otherwise put that skiff, speed hull or (what have you) boat in shape for the summer months. Good fishing should be ahead, we predict.

We'll let the Black Bass (green trout to us) speak for the trout family which is great at the end of the line. Mr. green trout is more widely distributed than any other trout species, and therefore caught in greater numbers in our bayous and lakes. Normally flashing spinners and skirts will do business for you. Trolling is best at this time of year. Then just about the time the bait starts to swing and pull the hardest, brace yourself, this is when a monster usually pulverizes it. The same thing happens when using popping baits later in the summer. If you haven't tried fly fishing and trolling you have missed a treat.

Another popular fish caught the perch family. This week-end night is a good letter and perch are caught on the fly and with other light tackle. Perch are small pointing bass. And there is hardly a fishing outfit that won't work providing the terminal tackle is light enough. Baiting especially the bigger "bells" are found most everywhere. A light pole with a small cork and worms for bait are standard outfit. Fishing for them can be done from the bank of the streams and lakes by those who do not fish from a boat. A piece of monofilament line attached to a regular line will prove more effective as it makes the bait stand out more pronounced. As for eating the Bluegill is ideal.

A new thing for fish fryers to try when frying fish is to put the salt in the hot fat rather than salting the fish. This causes the salt to penetrate the pieces of fish equally, giving them a much better taste. Try this the next time you fry fish. It does something to them when it comes to taste.

Birth Defects from Thalidomide Spur Mothers in March of Dimes

Grave concern about the widespread problem of birth defects, recently spotlighted by tragic infant deformities caused by the drug, thalidomide, will inspire some two million March of Dimes mothers to seek their neighbors' support for the 1963 March of Dimes during the last week in January.

For volunteers in the March of Dimes, this concern is not a recent development. The National Foundation-March of Dimes, which observes its 25th anniversary this year, began to attack the long-neglected field of birth defects back in 1938.

Then, as now, medical authorities recognized that birth defects, in hundreds of disabling forms, overshadow all other child health problems. Every year, more than 21,000 deaths throughout the United States are caused by defective prenatal development. Every year, more than a quarter of a million babies survive despite significant defects.

By bringing expert help to such children all over America, The National Foundation-March of Dimes—which helped conquer polio victims for whom the vaccines came too late. Aid for thousands of polio patients is still a prime responsibility of the March of Dimes.

The birth defects and arthritis centers supported by March of Dimes contributions emphasize early and correct diagnosis, which is the key to effective treatment and rehabilitation. Such detection and care requires the skills of many different specialists, all working together with patient and family.

Until the development of the March of Dimes program, such top-quality attention was generally available only in large medical centers. The families of children afflicted with these crippling have often had to settle for less than the best because facilities were lacking or inaccessible.

Why It Is Worth It—Marching Mothers believe every child's birthright entitles him to a full, useful life. They will brave the elements late in January to seek public support for the March of Dimes which finances treatment centers and research for victims of birth defects and crippling arthritis.
